Workshop

Introduce yourself to a new skill - chain making and expect to create a pair of earrings and a bracelet in the workshop. Geared for the total beginner you will learn to use jewelry pliers to attach ready-made sterling jump rings to form a considerable variety of chain patterns from simple to complex. Designing techniques will be covered. After constructing samples as a permanent reference you may proceed to a bracelet design of your own choosing, working at your own pace, in a supportive environment. These are skills you will continue to enjoy for years to come.

ABOUT THE ARTIST

Judith studied chaining so she could set her unique jewelry pieces in an equally unique chain design. Her metal art has a power of presence whereby a strong personal statement or vision is synthesized into a created object which then soars beyond function while maintaining a unity between the utilitarian and aesthetic. Her unique style is readily recognized by meticulously handcrafted bold forms often revealing a play of reflection and a minimum of surface distractions. Complementing many environments, the artist's work is represented in museum gift shops and select galleries across the nation. Her pieces have appeared in books, magazines, gift catalogues, and posters; and have been chosen for presentations and private collections.
